My Goals for My Life

I think the most valuable thing in life is to live with goals. Everyone should have some goals or dreams; otherwise, what is the meaning of life? First, many students choose their future jobs based on their parents' expectations. However, I made my own choice. I determined to become a cram school teacher in the future. In my process of learning, I met numerous teachers and instructors, assisting me whenever I needed some helps. Nonetheless, a cram school teacher that taught me in my third grade was truly the lighthouse in the dark. He was responsible for my English writing subject, and he's the best teacher I have ever met before. Not until I encountered him did I know the art of English. Moreover, he treated me like a friend and helped me to surmount many obstacles in life. I was greatly inspired by him, wanting to follow his footsteps. Second, one of the problems of students is how to realize their dreams. Many students only wish their dreams come true, but they actually do nothing to fulfill those dreams. I am going to get a part-time job in cram schools in order to get familiar with my future goal. In the meanwhile, I will keep bettering my English skills, training myself to be a qualified teacher. I hope that I can be as good as my life mentor — that cram school teacher, and be the muse of our future generations. Finally, a life without goals is meaningless. Goals and dreams are like gasoline to the cars. Let's hold on to our faiths and live a colorful future.
